

Latinoamerica
Valerio Foundation

As a director of Latinoamerica Valerio Foundation, I inform you that due to the coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic and new variants, I've made the difficult decision to move the IX Brain Tumor and Minimally Invasive Spine Symposium posted July 22 to July 25 2021, to the following year, 2022. My decision has included the band for flights from Latin America and guaranteed biosafety to a multicultural event. While I know it isn't enjoyable, I hope you can understand the steps I have taken to help ensure the safety of our staff and attendees. In contrast, I am thankful for your support and contributions to promote new generations in neurosurgery globally and in our community. I invite you to continue supporting our vision which we have been making year after year in education, teaching, and training neurosurgery fellows through Latinoamerica Valerio Foundation.

On the other hand, we will be giving you information about the dates and location of the next event, 2022, in the coming weeks. If you have any questions or concerns, please contact us: info@jvaleriomd.com, silvana@jvaleriomd.com or call 945-907-9445

Sincerely,

Jose Valerio MD, FACS, FAANS, MBA
